FOREWORD

Over the years, we have received many requests at the Secretariat for an analytical index of our Bulletin. The lack of a comprehensive index of back issues has made it difficult both for researchers who want to consult articles which have appeared previously in the Bulletin, as well as for readers who simply are looking for an article they had previously encountered in our journal. We hope that this present number of the Bulletin, entirely devoted to an index of numbers 1-64, will resolve some of these problems and make the Bulletin more "usable."

In preparing this Index, we were impressed by the wealth of material which has appeared in the pages of the Bulletin during the past 21 years. Someone desiring to review the development in theological approach of Catholic thinkers towards other religions in the period following the Second Vatican Council will find this progress chronicled in the issues of the Bulletin. The collection of papal statements concerning the relationship of Christianity to other world religions which is contained in the Bulletin is very extensive. In addition, the Bulletin has reprinted many of the documents and statements of bishops' conferences, particularly those of the two great continental bodies, SECAM in Africa and FABC in Asia, as well as papers and discussions which occurred at international colloquia on themes of inculturation, theology of religions, and relations between Christians and the followers of other faith traditions.

The Index follows the format of the Bulletin itself. In the first place are the Statements of the Popes. To the sections listing alphabetically the discourses of Popes Paul VI and John Paul II, there is added a third section which thematically collects the addresses of the two popes whose teachings have appeared in the Bulletin.

The Articles are presented first by author and title. To this section is added a second in which the articles are arranged according to subject matter, followed by author and volume.

The Dialogue in the World section is organized, as in the Bulletin itself, by country, then city, and finally the event and reference to the proper place in the Bulletin. This is followed by the Book Reviews, arranged according to author and title of the book reviewed, then the reviewer and the Bulletin reference. The Index concludes with a short necrology of references to staff, members, and consultants of the Secretariat who have died.

A particular problem which presented itself in the compiling of this Index is the fact that for numbers 1-24 of the Bulletin there existed separate French and English editions. Only at number 25 were the two editions combined into one which contained articles in both French and English (and occasionally, in Arabic, German, Italian, Latin, or Spanish.) The early French and English editions contained substantially the same articles, although the page-numbering rarely coincided. The Index thus lists each article from the early language editions twice, giving the title and pag-ination for each edition. A lower-case "e" or "f" following the page number indicates the edition in which the reference is to be found. For example:

23:84e/87f

means that the listing is found in volume 23, on page 84 in the English edition and on page 87 in the French.

Several issues of the Bulletin were, due to the large amount of material to be presented together, double issues (23-24, 28-29, 34-35, 41-42, 49-50.) In the case of the double issues, the volume is always listed by the lower number. In the example given above, the volume is actually numbered 23-24.

In the "Addresses of the Recent Popes" and "Articles by Subject-Author" tables, a papal discourse or article may have more than one subject listing. In those cases, the same article can be found under more than one heading in the section. For example, the article by M. McDonald, "Mission as Dialogue? Christianity Encounters Melanesian Religion" is listed under the subjects: "Melanesian Religions," "Mission and Dialogue," and "Theology of religions: Mission as Dialogue?"

The subject headings usually are given in the language in which the article appeared in the Bulletin. However, a Bulletin article in French may have an additional subject listing in English, and vice versa. However, to have done this exhaustively would have doubled the size of the Index. In the section, "Addresses of the Recent Popes," the general subject headings are given only in English. Again, size of the Index was the determining factor, and we regret any inconvenience caused by this editorial decision. For our readers, we offer on the following page a list of the French-English equivalents used in that section.

The Secretariat staff has checked and rechecked the references in the Index many times, but it is inevitable that some errors remain. We apologize for this and ask our readers to inform us of any errors so that a list of Errata can be compiled for distribution with a future number of the Bulletin.

AVERTISSEMENT

Au long des années le Secrétariat a reçu de nombreuses demandes d'un Index analytique du Bulletin. Le manque d'un répertoire d'ensemble des éditions passées est une difficulté pour les chercheurs qui voudraient consulter des articles antérieurement parus dans le Bulletin, ainsi que pour les lecteurs simplement en quête de retrouver un article déjà lu. Nous voulons donc espérer que le présent numéro de notre Bulletin, strictement un index des numéros 1-64, résoudra au moins certains problèmes et rendra le Bulletin plus "utilisable."

En préparant cet Index nous avons été frappés par la richesse de matériel accumulée dans les pages du Bulletin au cours des 21 années écoulées. Celui qui désire se rendre compte du développement en approche théologique des penseurs catholiques à l'égard des autres religions dans la période qui suivit Vatican II, en suivra la marche progressive dans les éditions du Bulletin. Le nombre des déclarations pontificales sur la relation du christianisme s'ouvrant aux autres religions mondiales, rapportées dans le Bulletin, est considérable. De plus celui-ci a publié une bonne part des documents et déclarations des conférences épiscopales, en particulier ceux des deux grands organismes continentaux, le SCEAM en Afrique et le FABC en Asie, ainsi que les communications et les débats tenus dans les colloques internationaux sur l'inculturation, la théologie des religions, les relations entre les chrétiens et les disciples des autres traditions religieuses.

L'Index est de même format que le Bulletin. En premier lieu viennent les Déclarations des Papes. Aux sections énumérant par ordre alphabétique les discours des papes Paul VI et Jean-Paul II, s'ajoute une troisième section avec classement par thèmes de ces discours tels que publiés dans le Bulletin.

Les Articles sont présentés d'abord par auteur et titre. Dans une seconde section ils sont classés par matière, avec indication de l'auteur et du numéro de la publication.

La section Dialogue dans le monde est ordonnée, comme dans le Bulletin, par pays, puis par villes, et finalement selon l'événement et la référence à sa place dans le Bulletin. Au terme de l'Index une courte mention nécrologique des membres et consultants du Secrétariat décédés.

Un problème particulier posé à la compilation de cet Index est la double édition française et anglaise des numéros 1-24 du Bulletin. Ce n'est qu'au numéro 25 que les deux éditions furent fondues en une seule, avec des articles en français et en anglais (occasionnellement en arabe, en allemand, en italien, en latin, en espagnol). Les éditions française et anglaise contiennent en substance les mêmes articles, mais la pagination coïncide rarement. En conséquence l'Index cite chaque article dans sa double édition, se référant au titre et à la pagination de chacune. Un "e" ou un "f" minuscule accompagne la page de l'édition où trouver la référence. Par exemple:

signifie: Bulletin 23, page 84 dans l'édition anglaise, 87 dans la française.

Plusieurs éditions du Bulletin ont paru, à cause d'une abondance de matériel, en numéro double (23-24, 28-29, 34-35, 41-42, 49-50). Dans ces cas le numéro cité est toujours celui du premier. Dans l'exemple donné ci-dessus l'édition est en fait le numéro 23-24.

Dans les tables "Discours des derniers Papes" ("Addresses of the Recent Popes") et "Articles par Matière-Auteur" ("Articles by Subject-Author"), un discours pontifical ou un article peuvent concerner plus qu'un seul sujet. Alors le même article revient sous plus d'une rubrique dans la même section. Par exemple l'article de M. McDonald, "Mission as Dialogue? Christianity Encounters Melanesian Religion," est répertorié au titre des matières: "Melanesian religions," "Mission and dialogue," "Theology of religions: Mission as Dialogue?".

Les titres relatifs au sujet sont ordinairement cités dans la langue de parution de l'article dans le Bulletin. Cependant un article paru en français peut être signalé dans la liste par matière aussi en anglais, et inversement. Mais pour adopter exhaustivement cette méthode il aurait fallu doubler le volume de l'Index! Dans la section "Addresses of the Recent Popes", les titres de sujet général ne sont donnés qu'en anglais. Redisons-le: le volume de l'Index a été le critère déterminant et nous regrettons toute gêne que pourrait causer la décision prise. Pour nos lecteurs nous donnons à la page qui suit une liste des équivalents français-anglais usés dans cette section.

L'équipe du Secrétariat a vérifié à maintes reprises les références données dans cet Index. Mais il est inévitable que subsistent quelques erreurs. Nous nous en excusons et prions nos lecteurs de nous les signaler, en sorte qu'une liste d'Errata puisse paraître dans un numéro ultérieur du Bulletin.
